

New Editors Are Named For '57-'58

Meeting last Tuesday afternoon, the Wartburg Publications Committee appointed two editors for the 1957-58 campus publications.

Junior Harold Kurtz, present managing editor of the TRIMPEP, will step up to the editor's chair, while junior Leonard Fleckman, this year's associate editor of the Fortress, was named editor in chief. Castie Tates editor will be announced later.

Journalism Scholar. With a double major in history and English, Kurtz, an active figure in campus literary circles, is vice president of the local chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma, national honorary journalism fraternity, and a contributor to Castle Talca and the Fortress. He was the first student to receive the Grawe Journalism Scholarship awarded this year.

From DePere, Wis., Kurtz is a liberal arts student and plans to enter the religious journalism field.

English Major. Fleckman, an English major, besides his Fortress activities, is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Chapter, Luther League and Hays Sacks.

Following a pre-theological curriculum, Fleckman is from West Burlington and plans to enter Wartburg Seminary in Dubuque.

Chest, Drive Question Up

Campus Chest, relatives with Luther College and its state Heart Drive, were the main topics presented at the Student Body meeting Thursday morning in Knights Gym.

No action was taken on the Senate's recommendation that a campus community chest be held again this year. Student voting on the matter scheduled for next week's convocation.

Student Body Vice President Ed Schneider reported that arrangements have been completed for intercollegiate intramurals with Luther College. First game is scheduled at Decker on March 9.

Students voted to participate in the Waverly Heart Fund Drive. Approximately seventy students will be needed on Sunday, Feb. 24, to work two hours canvassing the city for route buttons.

According to Student Body President Don Altmann, lists will be posted in Luther Hall and the Student Union this week for those who wish to help with the drive.

Play Dates Set For March 7-9

"Waiting for Godot," a tragic-comedy in two acts by Stephen Brecht, will be the next play production of the Speech Department on March 7, 8 and 9.

Director Charles DeVoson has cast Bob Lusk, junior, and Don Oberdorfer, senior, as the philosophical thinkers, Estragon and Vladimir. John Worner, junior, will take the part of the nobleman, Pozzo, and Philip Lack makes his debut as the slave, Lucky. Gary Hertel, son of faculty member Dr. Elmer Hertel, was selected as the Boy.

Blind Violinist Scheduled For Tuesday Convocation

Music will be the keynote for next week's convocation program, Tuesday, A. G. Sweden, a blind violinist with the orchestra, will be presented, and Thursday the Iowa District Brotherhood will present a musical gift—an organ for the college.

From West Union, Mo., Sweden has appeared in previous years on the convocation program and is being returned this year in response to popular demand. No specific program has been announced yet, but it will feature a variety of light and classical works.

Thursday's convocation has been turned over by the Convocation Committee to the Iowa District Brotherhood. Herb Engelbrecht, assistant to the college president and president of the state group, will have charge.

In addition to familiarizing students with the work of the Brotherhood and orientating

Leschensky Appears At St. Paul's Sunday

The Rev. Eugene Leschensky, Menominee, Wis., will appear at St. Paul's church next Sunday for the Spiritual Life Mission program beginning Monday and continuing through the week.

In addition to speaking at the 8 p.m. services at St. Paul's each evening, Pastor Leschensky will speak at chapel on campus Tuesday and Thursday.

Business Manager, Choir Director Return To Campus From Chicago

By Irmgard Feldmann

Representatives returned to the campus late this week from two Chicago meetings vital to the growth of the college and to the coming merger of three Lutheran bodies into The American Lutheran Church.

H. C. Engelbrecht, assistant to the president, attended the annual meeting of the Board of Higher Education of the American Lutheran Church. Dr. Edwin Lienholm, head of Wartburg's Music Department, attended the meeting of the Joint Board of Choral Union of the churches.

Debaters Win 3 While Dropping 5 At Central Sat.

Competing with seven other Iowa colleges, the Wartburg debate teams won three and lost five matches at the Central College tournament last Saturday.

Debating the question "Resolved, that the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign nations," Eric Henry, sophomore, and Margie Angel, sophomore, members of the first team, won one and lost three. Second team representatives Dean Engelbrecht and Eugene Mott, both freshmen, won two and lost two.

"The performance of our second team was surprising and encouraging. Participation in future debates should give our freshmen sufficient experience for an excellent team," stated debate adviser Robert Smith.

Final contest for this year, sponsored by the Town Pentecost Association, will be held March 8 and 9 at Cornell College.

The Board of Higher Education gave the go ahead for construction on a new men's dorm this spring and considered immediate campus expansion problems.

Opinion arising out of the discussion of a projected library building indicated that construction on this addition may get under way by the spring of 1958. The board will work closely with the college building committee in specific planning.

$2 Million Climax. The two-million-dollar expansion program, planned two years ago with the completion of Centennial Hall was planned in this type of meeting.

Primary purpose of this week's meeting, however, was to discuss problems connected with the joint meeting of the boards of higher education of the merging churches—American, United Evangelical and Evangelical Lutheran Churches—on Feb. 25-27.

Who Owns What? This meeting will bring together the presidents and boards of regents of the institutions of the three groups. These representatives will decide whether the colleges will merge on the basis of either proposal by the Joint Mergers Committee or whether a counter-proposal will be made.

These proposals involve the nature of control in the new church, nature of ownership of colleges and seminaries and such other items as endowments and subsidies by the church.

Contact!—That's Job Of PR

By Duane Schroeder

Ten people, employed by the Public Relations Department of Wartburg College, organize and direct a program which touches thousands of people.

Norm Fintel directs the operation of this mammoth project with Ken Starck as his assistant. Two full-time secretaries work for the two men. Mrs. Raymond Norheim, wife of the History Department man, and Mrs. Earl Hummer, wife of a college junior.

Mailmen, Nightmare. Assisting the two secretaries in the preparation and mailing of about 11,000 pieces of mail each month are Mirna Arhaat, Donna Sheels, Lucille Beall and Joan Hinkman, students who work part-time.

Harold Kurtz and Duane Schroeder, juniors, help Starck and Fintel write 1,000 releases which are sent to hometown and area newspapers and radio stations each month.

Ten thousand Alumni Bulletins are sent out every two months reaching prospective students, alumni members and pastors throughout the nation.

In A Walkover? Fintel and Starck travel around 20,000 miles each year to find prospective roommates for present students. Even after finding the student and getting him through college for better or for worse, the public relations men still aren't finished. The department serves as the hub for all alumni activity.

Community officials are familiar with the face of Wartburg's two public relations men. They work hand in hand in many of the functions of the college, furthering the good will between Waverly and Wartburg.

Money isn't all. However, it isn't only the salary members of the department who particiipate in this program, but every student on campus. Any time a choir member stays overnight at someone's home, on tour, or an athlete eats in a restaurant while on a road trip, that student is leaving an impression of the college in the way he acts or talks.

All publications, music organizations, athletic teams, drama groups, debate teams, other organizations or Artial Series programs contribute to the spreading of good will—the basic purpose of Public Relations.

At present all colleges and seminaries in the ALC are owned by the church. In the ELG there are three types of ownership—church owned, corporation owned and segment owned. The type of ownership will have to be revised to meet the needs of the new church.

Triple Action. It is possible that three types of ownership may be continued, according to Engelbrecht, but the church will demand careful control of the institutions and will probably insist that members of the boards of regents are elected by the church.

At the meeting attended by Lienholm a subcommittee was appointed to draw up a constitution for the church union in the new church. The constitution will be presented for consideration by the board at the May 15 meeting, also to be held in Chicago.

Lienholm pointed out that a series of articles will be prepared by the board at Wartburg which has been in preparation for a number of years.

We Love You!

Happy Valentine's Day!

No, our calendar reads the same as yours does, and we realize that Feb. 14 was two days ago. But we couldn't get all of our Valentine greetings out Thursday, so we're doing it now.

There are a great many people, we know, in this hurly-burly, rushing world who tend to turn their busy noses up at Valentine greetings and pooh-pooh them as sentimental trash and a waste of time. Others recoil in pious horror at carrying on a pagan tradition of somewhat shady origin. Others just don't care.

But we do care. Pooh-pooh as they will, the sight of a lay bit of white-pink surrounding a bright red heart stitched with some message of endearment is one of the most comforting and sweetly beautiful things in the world.

Any occasion that gives the people of the world time out from their race with time to say to someone else "I love you" has our whole-hearted support. Whether the "I love you" is prompted by the star-bright, sun-sweet love of a college man for some certain coed or by the inner glow you get from saying "This is my friend" or whatever other reason there may be, we are for more valentines more often.

There are many that we would like to give . . . to our patient publishers . . . to those whose names we misspell and who don't complain if we are forced to omit their stories . . . to the men upstairs in the Pub House who go to sleep and wake up to the sound of a typewriter . . . to our small, but faithful circulation staff . . . to the girls who handle our morgue and exchange list . . . to the reporters that respond so willingly when asked . . . these and a hundred more.

But we can't do that, so we simply say to all — and especially to you, dear reader, — Happy Valentine's Day!

Cheered Pops, Now Let's Back Knights

Arthur Nieder and the Pops didn't play "Where are you Now that I need you" at the concert last night, but if they had, it could have been quite appropriately dedicated to As Burgard and the Knights.

Last night, Wartburg played Central at Pella. They won. But it was lonesome there with just Ax and Bob cheering for the team. Tonight, at Indianapolis, Wartburg meets Simpson in a meat match. The Knights must win to stay in contention for the title.

And it won't be easy. Naturally, the team that gets the most points wins. However, it's a great deal easier for the team to get those points if there's someone there to show appreciation. In other words — cheer.

Simpson is approximately a three-hour drive from Wartburg. Out of the two hundred cars on campus, it should be no trouble for about forty or fifty of these to make the trip to Indianapolis and the game.

Last night you cheered the Pops. Tonight let's cheer the Knights.

See you at Simpson.

WHAT IN THE WORLD

Deeds, Not Words, Needed From Israel

By Dan Oberdorfer

Still gleaming the spotlight as the foremost trouble spot around the globe, Israel and Egypt eyed each other suspiciously across the Suez canal and waited.

Here arose the problem. It was and the waiting which the rest of the world wanted to see, but some action on the part of Israel, the action taking the form of withdrawal from the Gaza strip and other areas around the Sinai peninsula.

After the brief skirmish between our allied nations, Israel and Egypt, a proposal was made that some peaceful reconciliation be made between the warring countries. In order to accomplish this goal, it was established that the immediate withdrawal of Israel from the occupied areas be made Israel under the stubborn leadership of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, refused to move across the Egyptian demand to renounce all guerrilla and block-ade warfare.

The United States, once pledged to support Israel, has frowned on her action by letters and by withholding some $100 million in aid. This has led to an economic shortage in Israel together with the resulting incapacity to export goods from ports in the Gulf of Aqaba to the rest of the African and Asian world. Nevertheless, the Israelis have only pulled their belts tighter about them and are ready to stand in support of the decisions of their government.

To bring the action to a satisfactory conclusion for both sides poses a problem of great magnitude for the United Nations. Israel refuses to move

Faith Must Be Refined

By Le Roy Remmers

We frequently wonder why our faith should be tried or tested. "Why couldn't it have been my neighbor instead of me?" we often declare. Our faith is tried or refined for the same reason that gold is refined: namely, purification.

That the trial of our faith being made more precious than of gold that persists, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honor and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ. — 1 Peter 1:7.

We are often possessed with the idea that we can approach God by some merit. But our own merit, although the Holy Spirit alone induces and persuades us to believe the Gospel.

We are all familiar with a phrase from one of our hymns: "Nothing in my hand I bring; Simply to Thee cross I cling; Man adds nothing; hence, it is necessary that we become convinced that we do not bring anything in our approach to God. We are saved by grace through faith, which is a gift of God.

Our faith may be tested by various methods. It may become necessary for us to lose our job, our health, our friends, our family and yet, maybe even our life in order to strengthen our faith and be drawn closer to God. We arise as victors if we can say after being tested, "I have clung to the cross of Jesus Christ and have trusted solely in God's mercy."

If our hearts are troubled, or if we are contented with a misfortune or a disappointment in our lives, we should tell God about it, having faith in Him by placing our troubles in His hands.

As a result of this faith in God we will discover a peace and warmth in our hearts never experienced before. From our purified and strengthened faith in Him, then flow a pure life, which will be found to the honor and glory of Jesus Christ.

The epitome of ironic humor was administered this week by Dean Oppenheimer when he sent out a large number of Oppie Cards addressed Feb. 14 — Valentine's Day. It's a study of mixed emotions when a student walks up to his mailbox and finds a card from his girl and one from the dean.

That's keeping right up with the spirit and levity of old Wartburg. Did you notice that the flags on those loopy trees slung from tree to tree are a bright orange? That's so when you trip over one, you know where you are immediately.

Could it be that spring is on its way? Someone, anyway, snapped out of his midwinter lethargy and pushed a car on the Luther Hall front porch last Wednesday evening. Down deep somewhere he probably heard a little voice whispering, "Ghosts! There's something possible that there are only 34 days left until Spring Vespers."

And speaking of lethargies and all that, Vollmer House discovered a way to escape the weekend social lethargy at Wartburg. You have heard of double dates. Well, this is what is called a "detachment."

Every upperclassman in the house tries to muster enough courage to ask a girl for a date, and then they all go, on mass, to some place for pizza or, as is the case this weekend, to Iowa State Teachers College to see the production of "Ghosts" being put on there.

I missed the Boston Pops this year. Tell me, how many coke bottles were kicked up in the balcony? There's one in the Waverly Theater that everybody used to play soccer.

Hang on, Mrs. Grube. I'm going to give you a compliment. One of the seniors, entering in the car for the first time since he was a freshman, reports that the morals have definitely improved.

Here's something to think about. There are at least 13 other functions that go on in the Little Theater besides chapel. Why not add one more!

Knights Beat Dutch, 85-55; Matmen Hit Road

Can Better Standing Tonight

By Steff Writer
PELIA — "Let's get out of this town, we can't do our job," was the comment of Ax Bundgaard when he walked into the locker room here last night after watching his ball club walk over Central, 85-55.

At Margeheim dumped in the first three baskets of the ball game and the Knights were never threatened after that. The red-hot Axmen shot 33 times in the first half, hitting 17 times while the Dutchmen could hit only 29 percent of their shots.

Hot Shots. Coming out of the shower room at half time with a 41-25 lead the Knights picked up where they left off hitting 15 of 30 shots. With a 39 point lead Bundgaard pulled the first string with five minutes left in the final period. The second team stretched the lead to its final 39 point spread.

Art Margeheim led the game scorers with 24 points while Virgil Dykstra paced the Dutchmen with 16.

League leaders Parsons fell before the torrid shooting of Ron Juras, 810' center for the Upper Iowa Peacocks last night to tighten up the Iowa Conference considerably.

Meanwhile... Upper Iowa, now sharing the conference lead with Parsons, travels over to Mount Pleasant tonight to take on Northgate's Weslayan while the Knights are hosted by the Simpson Redman.

If the Knights should win tonight and the Dutchers defeat Upper Iowa, the Iowa Conference will begin all over. The Knights will move into a tie for second place with Upper Iowa and Parsons will remain on top with a road trip left to Dubuque and Upper Iowa. It's just beginning.

Dress Club

By Wilbur Flachman

The Wartburg Knights will invade Hesper Gym at Indianola tonight for a crucial clash with the Simpson Redmen.

The Redmen, displaying their greatest improvement in several years, are a tough home floor ball club. Their only loss on their home court was a 69-66 setback at the hands of league-leading Parsons.

Banged-Up Brave

Les Deaton is in his second term at the helm of the Redmen. Coach Deaton's youthful squad has been led by Al "Pete" Haughey, a junior forward from Texas. Injuries hit the Redmen last week, as number two scorer Bill Austin was forced to the sidelines with a bad ankle. Six foot five inch Bob Gause, a freshman center for Scarborough, has been taking up some of the slack lately, to bolster the petest Simpson attack.

On Tuesday, the Knights will lock horns with the University of Dubuque on the Spartans' floor.

Cellar Dwellers

The Spartans currently are nestled in the bottom half of the Iowa Conference. However, Tony Schavania's boys are capable of putting together a potent scoring punch and can make the going rough on a given night.

Leading the Dubuque clubs scoring this season is 9' 11" guard, Bill Reid. Reid recently posted a 1,000-point mark for a career total.

The Knights escaped with a victory over the Spartans in an earlier meeting of the two clubs at Waverly.

Don DeKinger saw his first action in the ring for Wartburg and defeated John Hemstead of Wisconsin 4-0 in the 157-pound division.

Arnie Brandt retained his perfect record by throwing Laverne Pieper with four minutes remaining in the match. Brandt now has a record of 16 pins and 9 decisions.

Campbell Presents Indo-China Sunday

Last of three Wartburg College Specialty Series numbers will be presented tomorrow night in Knights Gymnasium when Dr. Wm. G. Campbell gives his illustrated lecture on "Indo-China." The program will begin at 8 p.m.

Dr. Campbell's illustrated lecture will include coverage of all three states of Indo-China: Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos.

Revealing Film. This deeply penetrating and revealing film was made by an unusual, interesting and well-known man. Campbell has appeared before the National Geographic Society and has been booked on many of America's biggest foreign series.

Topical variety of the film will include such outstanding features as the blood sacrifices of the savage Mol, remote tribal people. The world's largest rubber plantations of Chu and Quonoi and authentic Laotian village life, remote, inaccessible and untouched, will be shown.

Cast of Thousands. Other subjects in the film will be the heart-rending story of one million refugees fleeing Communist-controlled North Viet Nam. Scenic beauty of the mountain forests, the historic Mekong River and the beautiful coast of Annam will be viewed by Specialty pictures.

Tickets may be obtained at the door on the evening of the performance.
